

Actions with Chapters

After the introduction is added, you can start writing the main part of your longread. You'd rather divide the article into parts or chapters. This will make easier for you to write, and for your learners — to perceive information.

- Adding Chapter
- Duplicating Chapter
- Moving Chapter
- Removing Chapter

Adding Chapter

To add a new chapter, click  on the left-hand pane.

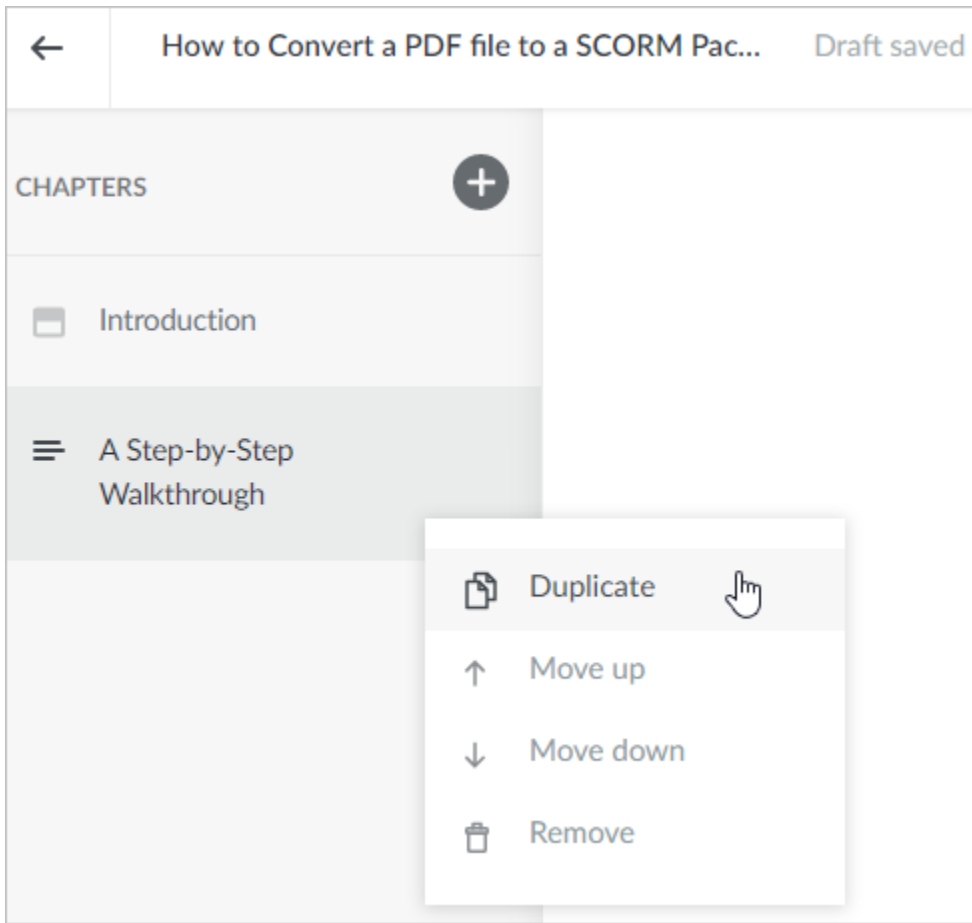

As soon as the chapter is added, enter its title and start writing. Here you can use lists, statements, images, video, and exercises.

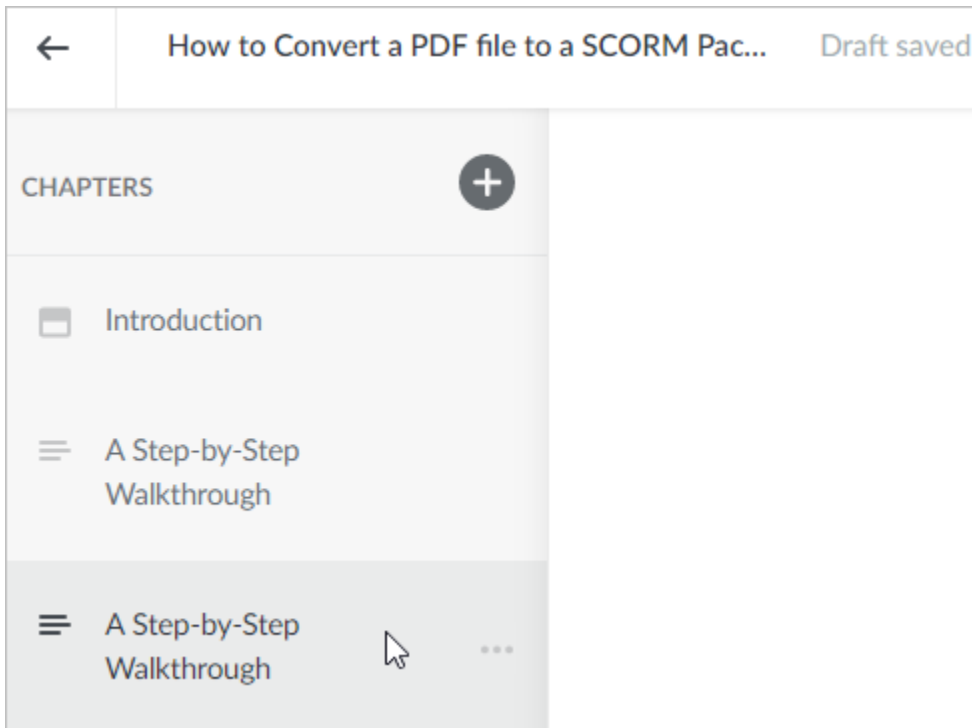

Duplicating Chapter

If you want to create a chapter that will be similar in content or outline to an already existing part of your longread, use the duplication option. Select the chapter you want to copy, click , and choose Duplicate,

An exact copy of the chapter will be added below.

Moving Chapter

If you want to rearrange the order of chapters, select the chapter you want to move, click ⋮, and choose Move up or Move down depending on the direction of relocating.

Removing Chapter

If you consider any chapter of your longread useless, select it, click ⋮, and choose Remove. The chapter will be deleted for good.

← How to Convert a PDF file to a SCORM Pac... Draft saved

CHAPTERS +

- Introduction
- A Step-by-Step Walkthrough
- The What, Why and How Using SCORM in eLearnin
- Conversion Results

Duplicate

Move up

Move down

Remove

