

Managing Course Questions

A user who added and currently administers a course can:

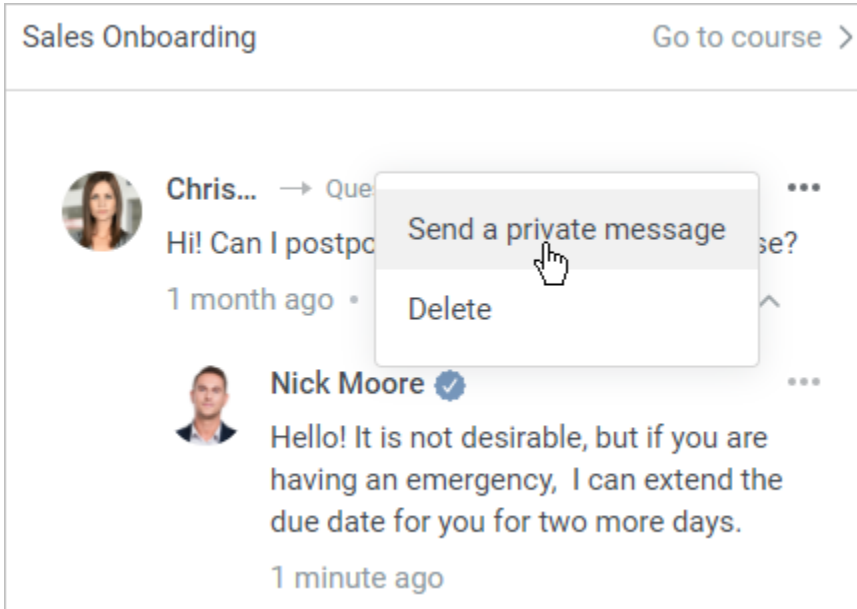

- edit their own questions and responses,

- delete users' questions and responses,

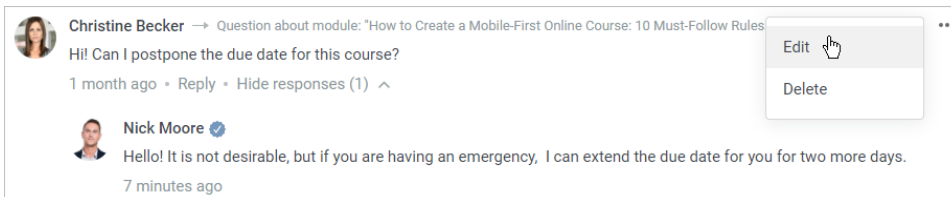

- write to a user who posted a question or a response (if they belong to the departments which Department Administrator or Publisher manages, or their sub-department).

A user who has sent a question is able to perform the following actions:

- edit their own questions and responses,

- delete their own questions (along with the posted responses),

- delete their own responses.
