Report Templates

If you want to get rid of the monotonous task of setting up filters and columns for a report each time you create it, just save it as a template.

With a saved report template, you can quickly check how a particular user or an entire department advances through courses or find out how many users attended events last month.