Size Settings

By default, the slide size of a published role-play is the one that is specified in the role-play properties. But, if you wish, you can select how a role-play displays in a browser after publishing.

1. Click on the link in the Size field.

2. Next, select one of three options and click Save.

Option	Description
Fit role-play to browser window	The size of the slides is adjusted to the size of the browser window.
Use original role-play slide size	The size of the slides is the one specified in the role-play properties.
Scale role-play slide to exact size	The size of the slides is specified in pixels.
